Graduate Profile and Rationale

The Diploma of Theology provides students with the opportunity to undertake pre-bachelor award level study in theological disciplines. It is designed for those who have a less formal educational background than those undertaking the BTh award, or those who are seeking an award requiring less overall commitment than the degree.

The Diploma of Theology provides students with introductory study across a range of theological disciplines. It also provides some opportunity to gain knowledge and skills appropriate for Christian ministry but not necessarily of the breadth or depth required for professional ministry. It is designed for Christians seeking a sound foundation for informed participation in the local church, parachurch ministries, and in the wider community. The course is offered in four main sub-disciplines – Biblical Studies, Theology, Church History, Pastoral Theology and Practice.

Outcomes

Students should be able to:

- appreciate the importance of critical methods in interpreting scripture

- demonstrate a working knowledge of the historical contexts and social settings of the major biblical texts
- understand the main issues for Christian theology
- demonstrate an ability in bringing biblical and theological insights to bear on pastoral dimensions of Christian faith
- communicate the faith in a manner which brings together knowledge and personal experience.

Enrolment

The Diploma of Theology is offered through individual Member Institutes. In light of the units offered students are able to choose their program to suit their interests and needs, all the while fulfilling the requirements. Details are available from the Member Institute offering the course.

Articulation to Other Awards

Students who complete the Diploma of Theology can articulate into the Bachelor of Theology and can receive block credit of 96 credit points into the BTh distributed according to the units they have undertaken in their program.
